DIES FOLLOWING AN OPERATION

Death Came As a Decided Shock; Funeral Services Were Held This Morning

The sudden death Wednesday afternoon of Charles R. Hughes, manager of the Pacific Sheet Steel company of this city came as a distinct shock to not only employees of the plant, where the late Mr. Hughes was a popular official but to his large circle of friends as well on the Peninsula.

On Monday, after several previous attacks of illness, he retired to his home in San Mateo. On the advice of his physician he entered the Mills Memorial hospital on the following day and on Wednesday it was found necessary to perform an operation for gall stones and acute appendicitis. The late Mr. Hughes failed to survive the operation, having courageously fought against the ailment until stricken.

The late Mr. Hughes who has been the popular manager of the Pacific Sheet Steel company, since its inception in this city, leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, Mrs. Alida Hughes, a daughter Florence and a brother in Middletown, Ohio.

Deceased was past exalted ruler of the Middletown lodge of Elks, and a prominent citizen of that city at the time of his departure for California.

Funeral services were held from the Hughes residence this morning at 11 o'clock, under the direction of Rev. C. L. Kloss. The San Mateo Lodge of Elks conducted the services at the chapel at Cypress Lawn cemetery where the body will be retained pending word from Ohio which may bring about the decision to ship the remains east. George W. Sneider and company of San Mateo are the undertakers. The sympathy and condolence of the Enterprise is extended to the bereaved family.

Will Fill Sunday Appointment

Rev. Asa P. Beall, in sending his program to the Enterprise announces that he will fill his Sunday appointments. He will preach at 11 a.m. He declares that he was more seriously injured than at first realized when he wired friends in South San Francisco. He is, however, doing nicely and will arrive home the latter part of the week.

Rev. Mr. Beall, who left the city last Monday for Taft and Pasadena met with an auto accident while taking a short cut off. His car skidded, turned over twice causing cuts on the scalp and hands also he suffered from the shock. The car was badly wrecked.

Americanism Day was established by the Legion five years ago as an omen to the annual demonstrations of the "reds" and I. W. W. communist organizations of this day, Commander Coombs says.

Highway Commission Opens Bids For Widening Additional Section Of Highway in San Mateo County

Sacramento.—When the California Highway commission meets in San Francisco, Monday, May 4, it will have before it, bids for the widening of 4.39 miles of the Peninsula highway between Cypress Lawn cemetery and San Bruno, San Mateo County. Seven firms today submitted offers to undertake a further "breaking of the bottle neck" southward from San Francisco. The lowest bidder was the Federal Paving company of San Francisco with a bid of $204,000.50. The engineer's estimate was $206,129.50.

The present twenty-four foot highway will be widened to forty feet and thickened, in a manner similar to the work already completed between San Bruno and Beresford. Heavy cement concrete shoulders will be placed at either side of the present pavement, which will be thickened with an asphalt concrete surfacing.

When the project, bids for which were opened today, is completed, the only remaining unit of the Peninsula highway in San Mateo county not reconstructed, will be the short section bordering the cemeteries where half of the right of way is occupied by the tracks of the United Railroads.

A committee composed of representatives of the Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County, the San Francisco city engineer's office and the state highway commission is now endeavoring to work out a solution of this problem. It is hoped that the tracks may be removed from the streets.

The proposed widening will be financed from the state's share of the gasoline tax, it was announced by Chairman Harvey M. Toy, who pointed out that one of the first contracts awarded by the present commission was one for the widening of the state highway in San Mateo County. Every effort is being made, he said, to widen the Peninsula highway to its maximum traffic carrying capacity.

LOCAL MAN FIGURES IN AUTO WRECK

Two men were injured and two automobiles badly damaged in a collision at about 11:30 Sunday night on the state highway at Menlo Park. After being treated for his injuries at the Palo Alto Hospital, Elmer Paulson, South San Francisco, was placed under arrest on a charge of reckless driving. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ray Griffin in Redwood City Monday morning and pleaded not guilty. He was released on $100 bail, and will appear for trial on May 8.

Mock Ling, a Chinese, who was riding in the car driven by Biliglo Alias, Menlo Park, was cut about the face and bruised, but his injuries was not considered severe.

The accident occurred when the Alias machine was turning into the highway, and the other car was going along the highway toward San Jose. Both machines swerved out of their course and sideswiped each other after running into a filling station.

Americanism Sunday Is Set For May 3

San Francisco, April 30.—Observance of Americanism Sunday, May 3, throughout the state has been requested by State Commander Nathan F. Coombs.

All American Legion Posts in California have been notified by Commander Coombs and State Adjutant James K. Fisk to observe the day following a communication from National Commander Jas. A. Drain, who has sent forth a nation-wide call asking ministers of all denominations to speak from the pulpit on "For God and Country" next Sunday.

Americanism Day was established by the Legion five years ago as an omen to the annual demonstrations of the "reds" and I. W. W. communist organizations of this day, Commander Coombs says.

INTEREST KEEN IN SCHOOL HEAD CHOICE

Although no San Mateo county educator has announced its candidacy for the office of county superintendent of schools, which will be vacated by Roy W. Clowd May 1, keen interest has been manifested as to the selection of a successor. Among the more prominent educators of the county who have been named as likely candidates are: John Gill, vice-principal of the Redwood City schools; W. J. Savage, a veteran teacher of Colma; George Hall of San Mateo and L. E. Adams of Burlingame. It is probable that the board of supervisors will appoint a successor to Clowd at its next weekly meeting, May 4.

St. Paul's Community Church Rev. Asa P. Beall, Minister

The pastor will be in his pulpit Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The bible school will convene at 9:45 a.m. Epworth and Intermediate Leagues meet at 6:30 p.m. Mrs. Beall is proud of her school, both teachers and scholars, and will be glad to see a large attendance.

The postponed Junior League entertainment takes place at 7:30 p.m. under the direction of Mrs. Mabel Johnson, the superintendent. A pleasant program is assured.

There is always a cordial welcome for everyone at St. Paul's.

PACIFIC SHEET STEEL REOPENS PLANT

On Monday the plant of the Pacific Sheet Steel company, closed down for a week was re-opened with 270 men again placed on the payroll. This, in a measure off-sets the laying off of several hundred men at the other plant while extensive repairs are being made.

It Will Be An Important Session

On Monday, May 4, in the City Hall; South San Francisco, there will be a hearing before the railroad commission when the matter of extending Orange avenue is brought up for consideration. This is of vital importance to the city and it is sincerely hoped that the commission will render a favorable decision in the matter. It must however, be borne in mind, that the railroad commission is guided mainly by the facts in every case it considers, and while no doubt that body takes into consideration public sentiment in various matters, the facts in any case must be properly presented and substantiated. The personal attendance of citizens of the community will have a good moral effect.

The presentation of these facts rests entirely with our public officials and our public and semi-public organizations in co-operation with these officials. We believe that matters are in capable hands still it would do no harm to have as large attendance of citizens on hand as possible. We are of the opinion that the facts of the case and the documents submitted will be the salient factor in the entire matter, and the issue will be determined along those lines but as stated before the moral effect of a large attendance is desirable.

We have confidence in those in charge of the city's interests in this matter and also we have confidence in the railroad commission in deciding matters from facts presented and substantiated. Let's concentrate on strength of facts backed by the strength of numbers. A favorable decision from the railroad commission means a great deal to our city, locally we realize this. The idea is to submit facts so that the commission also realizes it.

EAGLE CIRCUS TO BE BIG FEATURE

Announcement has just been made that a gigantic spring fiesta and circus, sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Eagles of South San Francisco, would be held for five days beginning Tuesday, May 5, on the grounds located opposite South City Lumber and Supply Company.

Another bit of interesting information is that the Eagles have closed negotiations with the Foley and Burk combined shows to furnish the feature attractions for their annual event.

Foley and Burk have not exhibited in South San Francisco for a number of years, though their shows have appeared in practically every city in California, including the annual visit of the popular shows at all the California state and county fairs.

This year these veteran showmen promise to bring to South San Francisco, one of the largest and most complete, as well as meritorious organizations, that has ever exhibited on the Pacific coast, and the F. O. E. is indeed fortunate in being able to acquire the assistance of this highclass and moral amusement institution.

Numbered among the numerous attractions to be offered during the Eagles' spring festival is the All Feature Circus, presented in a mammoth canvas amphitheatre by three score of national and internationally known stars of the circus ring, including such well known artists as the Adair Duo, masters of the horizontal bars, Senorita Perez, the most remarkable woman juggler of all time; Senor Manuel Macias, conceded by all critics to be the emperor of the high wire, Madam Wilkins with her educated macaws, parrots and cockatoos is another exceptionally high class and finished feature as are also the many trained animal innovations.

Huge and towering mechanical devices and sideshows of every description will furnish sensations, thrills and entertainment a plenty to the many thousands of amusement seekers who will take advantage of this unusual amusement treat during the progress of the Eagles' circus.

DEADLOCK IS NOW BROKEN

Street Railway Company Has Agreed To Reconsider Moving Tracks at Cemeteries

What appeared for a time to be a deadlock in connection with relieving the traffic congestion at the Colma "bottle neck" of the highway seems to have been broken. For after strenuously opposing the moving of its tracks to the middle of the highway owing to the heavy expenditure involved; the United Railways company on Friday, practically agreed to take the proposition under advisement again.

The agreement was reached at a meeting between the Street Railway officials, the Southern Pacific, the highway commission, the cemetery association and representatives of civic organizations of San Francisco. It is stated that within three weeks a definite answer will be forthcoming. In the meantime, it was announced by Charles M. Black of the Street Railway company, the matter will be thoroughly studied by the board of directors of the company.

The principal entrance and exit of San Francisco will be widened as soon as permission is granted by the board of directors of the Street Railway company.

It is further stated that through the courtesy of E. C. Meade and H. H. Noble, the Cemetery Association has offered to contribute a tract of land in order to make the project possible.

Following are the improvements provided for in the plans drawn up by Division Engineer J. H. Skeggs of the state highway commission: Widening of the Mission road from Colma to a point below the Cypress Lawn cemetery, a distance of nearly two miles; provision to give a 100-foot right-of-way instead of the present 60-foot right-of-way, and also providing for an eight foot surface roadway with a ten foot sidewalk on each side.

Board Finally Accepts Twenty Acre Park Site

Also Passes Resolution To The Effect That City Will Improve This Property At Early Date

That South San Francisco will have a public park and play grounds is now assured, for at an adjourned meeting of the board of trustees on Monday night with every member in attendance the twenty acres of land offered by the South San Francisco Land company to the city was accepted. Furthermore, a resolution introduced by Trustee Cunningham and endorsed by every member of the board was recorded setting forth that the city contemplated improving this tract of land for park purposes and that it is the intention of the board to make expenditures at an early date towards the establishing of this park as revenue could be provided.

In connection with accepting the twenty acres City Attorney Davis on Monday night, submitted a slightly modified agreement which he stated was agreeable to the land company, and he recommended to the board that the agreement and conveyance be now accepted. The clauses submitted by the city attorney were in substance as follows: "Said land and any part thereof, shall revert to said South San Francisco Land company, immediately upon the happening of the following: (a) The use of said City of South San Francisco of said land for any purpose other than a public park. (b) The failure of said city of South San Francisco, to pay any taxes or assessment hereinafter provided. (c) The levying by said City of South San Francisco for the improvement of said land or any street, alley or lane which said City of South San Francisco agrees to improve hereby, of any tax or assessment other than upon all of the land of said city subject to taxation for general purposes."

The agreement further provides that the city shall pay out of its public treasury the costs and expenses of improving and beautifying said land and also the cost and expenses of improving any streets, alleys or lanes which may be constructed contingent to or upon said land and which may be constructed to connect such land with the southerly terminus of certain streets designated in the agreement. The agreement also provides that if the city shall at any time use this land for other purposes than that of a public park, it will revert back to the South San Francisco Land company. (Then follows a description of the land; which city attorney Davis stated had been carefully checked by City Engineer George A. Kneese.)

The resolution accepting the agreement was introduced by Trustee McCaffrey and was adopted by all members of the board. It develops in this connection that Orange Avenue extends along the southerly boundary of this twenty acre tract and is included in the acreage.

WE APPRECIATE THE COURTESY

Prior to taking over the South San Francisco Enterprise, we did not have the pleasure of meeting City Clerk Dan McSweeney. Since making our headquarters in South San Francisco, we have become acquainted with this efficient official. We were told, prior to coming to South San Francisco that we would find Dan McSweeney a man that would go out of his way to do a favor, and this week we found this to be a fact.

Also, we had the occasion this week to seen Genial Dan at his busy period when tax payments were the order of the day. To each and every one who came to his office he had a pleasant word, calling them by name, and never forgetting the "Thank you" and the "good bye" as they left.

To us, from the newspaper standpoint, he has been most accommodating at all times. It must run in the family, however, for we find his brother, Ambrose, at Redwood City of the same calibre. City Attorney Davis and the members of the board of trustees, have extended to us similar courtesy, which we appreciate and the chief of police is also included in this category.

We publish this, not as "soft soap" but as agreeable facts and the parties referred to will know nothing about it until they see it in print; but we always like to give credit where credit is due.

CHIEF TRUAX WANTS STREETS REPAIRED

'Twas Thirty Years Ago

From Enterprise, November, 1895

A careful census made this week of the exact number of people in South San Francisco proper shows our population to be 671. Of this number 354 are men; 146 women and 171 children.

A horse was stolen from the premises of A. Jeneveit at San Bruno last Saturday.

Ed Barnum tried his first case here in Justice's Court on Friday last.

D. O. Daggett is making improvements on his buildings on Cypress avenue, known as the Krachenhoff house.

Ed Daniel drives his own meat wagon at present. He is short a driver and some good hard cash; but Ed says such trifles cannot interfere with the Green Valley market.

William Rehberg and his city mules met with quite an experience on the San Bruno road last week. As he was nearing the Sierra Point house, he met a squad of bloomers. The mules immediately took to the hills overturning the wagon and fortunately driving Mr. Rehberg into the road uninjured. Had Mr. Rehberg been killed the verdict of the coroner's jury would no doubt have said something about contributory negligence.

TO HUNT ARCTIC REGION BY PLANE

Donald MacMillan to Head Expedition to Map Vast Frozen Expanse.

Washington.—Naval aircraft will attempt this summer to bridge the vast ice expanse that has so far shut out from human knowledge great regions of the Arctic, where a predicted continent has long lured the toilsome effort of man by sledge without an answer to his guess.

In an expedition headed by Donald B. MacMillan, seasoned wayfarer of the northland, who is returning there on his ninth voyage of exploration next June, naval pilots will bring their craft to the furthering of man's struggle to map the mysteries of an area of more than a million square miles lying between Alaska and the North pole.

Indorsed by Coolidge

Although not a government project, the plan has been approved by Secretary Wilbur and indorsed by President Coolidge, and also will have both the financial and scientific backing of the National Geographic society.

As it is a private project and differs in this respect from the scheme abandoned last year for a polar expedition with the dirigible Shenandoah, the naval pilots who will accompany the expedition will have an extended leave for the purpose.

Of these Commander R. F. Byrd will be one, while there will be at least two others along with two or three mechanics, still to be chosen from both the navy and marine corps.

Commander Byrd will be in charge of all flight operations. Two planes of the Loening amphibian type will be supplied, having a cruising range of more than 120 miles an hour.

In charting the unknown regions, as well as participating in the many other scientific undertakings projected, including and ascertaining high altitude, temperature and taking weather observations, Mr. MacMillan believes more can be accomplished with the planes in the two months planned for the expedition than has been done in the last century.

Expedition Starts June 15.

Leaving Wiscasset, Me., about June 15, on vessel already chartered, the expedition will make its way along the Labrador and Greenland coasts up to Axel Heiberg Land, at the northern point of which, probably 250 miles from where the ship will station, an attempt will be made to establish an advance flying base.

From there planes will venture over the unknown regions to the northwest in an effort to determine whether a continent or land in any form exists there. The most important aspect of this question is the probability that such land ultimately could be utilized for aircraft bases in flight routes from Europe to Asia.

Explorations of the ancient Norse ruins in Labrador and Greenland, recovery of the records which Peary left at Cape Columbia before the final dash from there to the pole and extensive radio experiments, for which Eugene F. McDonald, Jr., president of the National Association of Broadcasters, of Chicago will accompany the expedition, are among the other undertakings projected.

Sneezes Piece of Steel

Drill From Nasal Cavity

Philadelphia.—Suffering from a persistent headache and approaching blindness, the cause of which physicians were unable to determine, Harry M. Hutchinson, an electrician, sneezed from his nasal tubes an inch-and-a-half piece of a quarter-inch steel drill with which he had been stabbed 12 years ago. Hutchinson said that he had been stabbed through the bridge of the nose with a drill during a fight with a fellow workman. While reclining in a barber's chair he was seized with a paroxysm of sneezing and dislodged the obstacle. "My relief was almost instant," said Hutchinson.

Idle Mail Box Traps Partridge in Winter

Winsted, Conn.—A steel mail box fastened to a hemlock tree at Highland Lake, a summer resort, trapped and killed a full grown partridge last winter. The bird was found in the mail box when the cover was lifted. The box had not been used for other than cold-storage purposes since last fall, as the R. F. D. carrier doesn't travel that way in winter. High winds, it is believed, blew down the steel lid imprisoning the bird in its novel winter home.

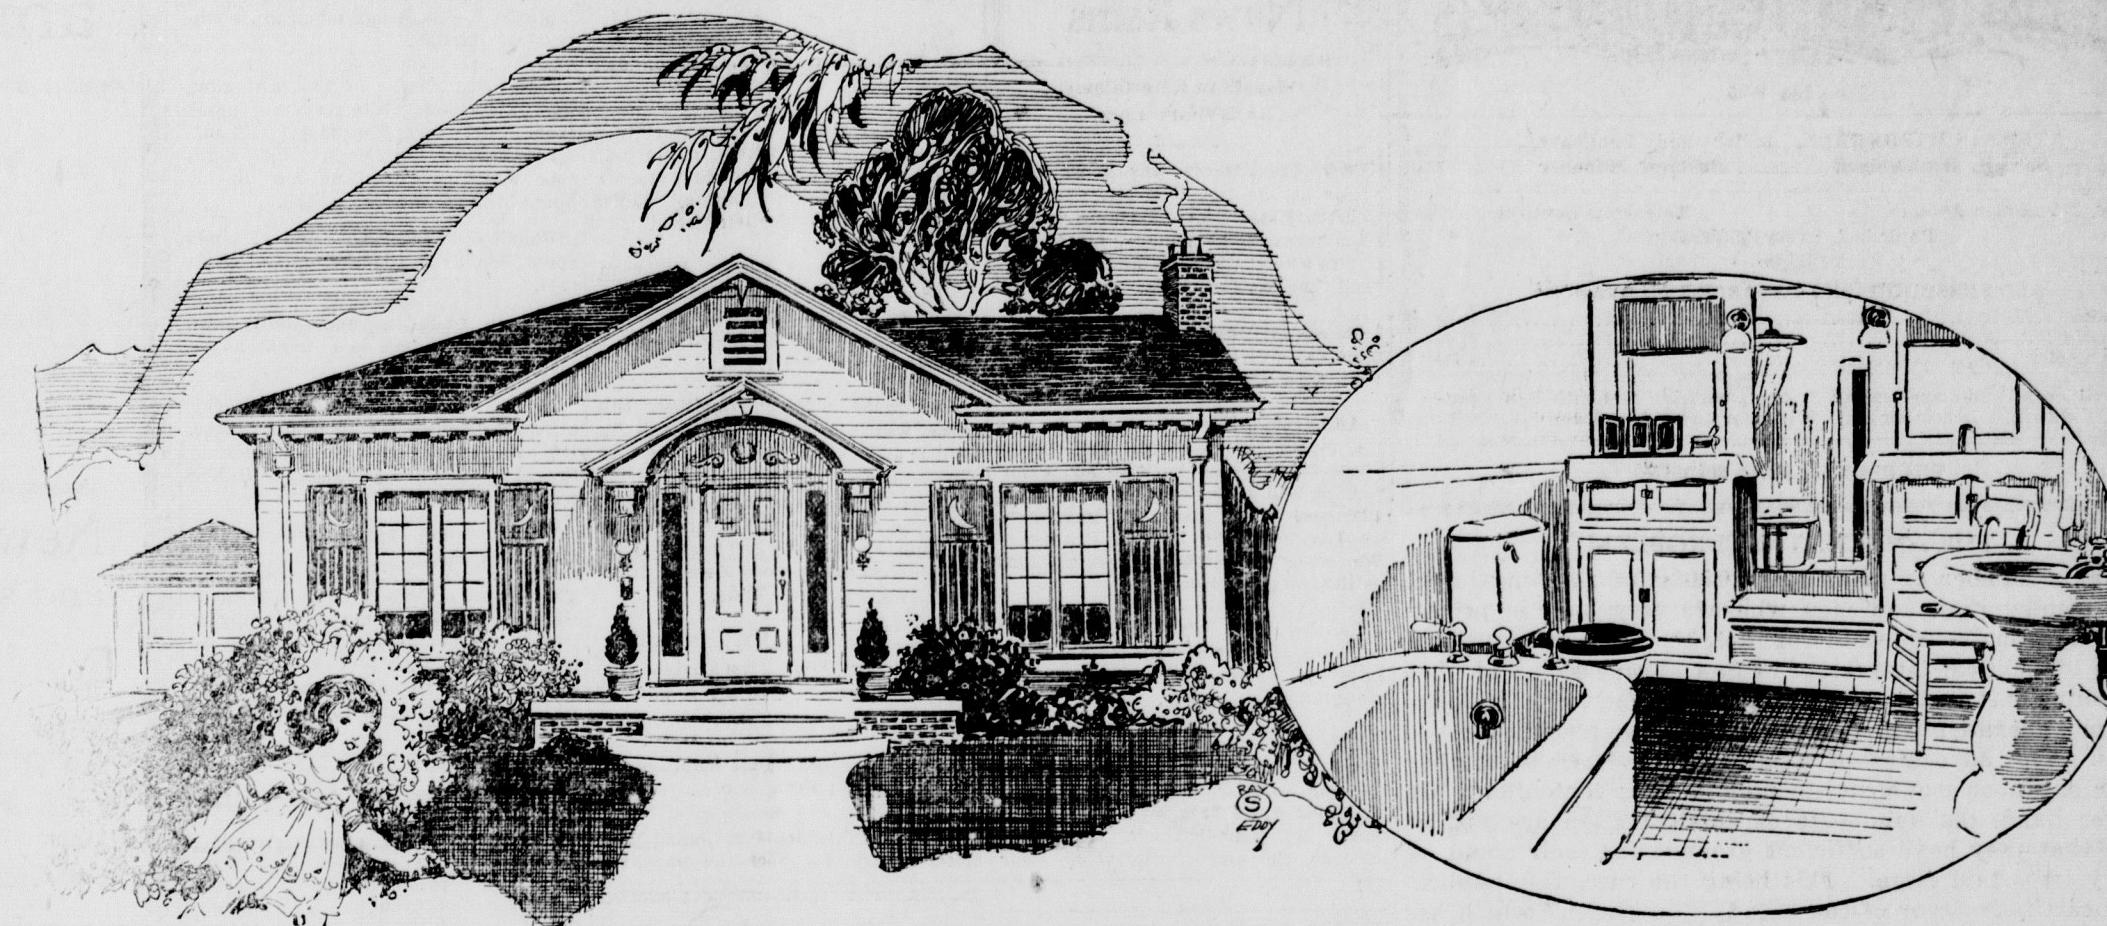

Straight Line of Twins Through Four Generations

New York.—Mrs. Frances Cain of Brooklyn gave birth to a healthy baby boy one day recently. Twenty-four hours later, she gave birth to another boy—twins.

Mrs. Cain is herself a twin. Her mother, Mrs. Theresa Brueck, was also one of twins, as was Mrs. Cain's grandmother. For four generations the line of twins has been unbroken.

Two-Headed Snake

Oakland, Cal.—A milk snake with two distinct heads was caught on Mount Diablo by a cattle herder recently. The reptile is on exhibition at the University of California museum.

=this is the age of modern, convenient homes

A philosopher recently said that we are living in a brutal, materialistic age, giving more REALITY to stupid, physical things than to God-like enduring IDEAS: THAT WE ARE BUILDING Homes and Office Structures but writing no Hamlets; riding in airplanes, but writing no Iliads.

To some extent and from many viewpoints the gentleman was RIGHT. But there is one particular way in which he was WRONG.

There is one particular direction in which the thinkers and workers of this age have progressed farther than in any previous age or generation, and that particular direction is one that means MORE for mankind in general than either Hamlets or Iliads can possibly mean. That direction is the science of HOME BUILDING. In the old days when this world was young, mighty men of mighty ideas constructed the pyramids of Egypt—the parthenon of Athens; and to this good day men marvel at the wonders that they wrought. But the people that built those wonders of the world—skilled builders, as all generations since have proclaimed them to be—lived in shelter that no self-respecting man or woman of this day and generation would care to call his own.

Pride of Home Ownership is one of the strongest of all civilizing influences, and is one dominating factor for happiness, contentment, love, devotion, assuring perpetual protection.

The business and professional men who are underwriting this weekly forward movement page, conveying to you timely and practical information and ideas, are worthy of your patronage in return for their continuous efforts.

THE ANNEXATION PROBLEM

That a number of prominent citizens of standing in the various communities, and men who are very busy in private life, are devoting considerable of their time and energy to the question of political integration of San Francisco and San Mateo counties exemplifies the fact that the matter of amalgamation or annexation will continue to be a live issue in the two counties. The advocates of amalgamation have what they consider excellent arguments to uphold their contention. On the other hand, the opponents of amalgamation are just as positive that they have sufficient grounds for their stand on this very important issue. This being the case, this publication is heartily in favor of the "Study Convention" which has been organized to make a thorough study of every phase of the problem.

It must be admitted by every thinking person, that at the present time the general public has but a vague idea of the entire question. This being the case, then it naturally follows that useless further enlightenment is forthcoming it really sifts down to an issue fought out by two factions. The one personally interested in having the two counties merged and the other opposed to the proposition, with the general public either swayed by spellbinders of one or the other of the factions or taking but a passive interest in the entire matter, owing to the fact that they are more or less in the dark on the entire issue. There would naturally be somewhat confused ideas on the conflicting publicity which is bound to develop when two factions, for personal reasons, fight out such a large question. It must be considered that there are numerous angles to this question. The salient factors are: The legal aspect; the political phase; the selfish element; the pride of community independence; and last but by no means least the effect it will have on our local commercial and industrial institutions.

We contend that at the present time, no publication, organization or individual can intelligently and convincingly discuss the issue from a strictly public spirited standpoint. It requires money to carry on a research of this magnitude and in order to bring about the study as proposed by the ways and means committee and as adopted by the convention, fifteen thousand dollars are required to employ the Bureau of Governmental Research, an impartial body, to carry on the work. To make it really a question of the people and for the people; this money must come from the people by subscription. Seven thousand five hundred dollars have been subscribed to the fund by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and a total of fifteen thousand is necessary before the convention will employ the Bureau of Governmental Research of San Francisco to make the study.

In order to facilitate matters, the convention has appointed prominent men in the various districts of the county, the subcommittees for South San Francisco, consisting of F. A. Cunningham, Mrs. E. C. Peck and Andy Hindring. Elsewhere in this issue we publish an official report of the finance committee of the study convention.

YOU WOULD NOT DO IT AT HOME

Soon, with the advent of summer weather for which California is world renowned, the camping and outing season will be in full swing. Camp fires will become common occurrences, cigars, cigarettes and pipes will be smoked in nooks of Nature's splendid recreation grounds, and carelessness on the part of campers, hikers, tourists, etc., will result in brush and forest fires, that could easily have been avoided or prevented had the parties responsible been as careful about matches and fires as they are in their own homes. Would therefore not this slogan be the proper one to adopt? "Be as careful about fires while in camp or out in the open as we are at home."

Millions of dollars each year are lost in forest fires. The United States Forest Service estimates that in the five year period ending in 1924, more than 200,000 forest fires were reported in the country. These fires swept an area of forty-five million acres of forest lands and destroyed timber and property valued at $90,000,000 exclusive of indirect and intangible damage to young growth, water resources and recreational facilities. In California last year, about half a million acres of timberland were swept by flames. Then again, look at the humane side of the question. You would not deliberately pick up a little bird and set fire to it. You would not burn the cute little squirrels and other animals that inhabit the forests, but by your carelessness you really do these cruel things. You would not do it at home, so why be careless with fire when away from home?

Just think it over before you go on that camping trip or outing this summer. Remember also, that it is much harder to replace a forest than it is to replace a home.

FARMING IN ANCIENT PERU

Terraced Valley Above Ollantaytambo.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

With the spring plowing of our farmers just ahead of us, we of North America, where farms are reasonably level and broad, might find it interesting to consider the kind of farming that was carried on by very early Americans, the Incas and the pre-Incas in the narrow valleys of Peru. What these people did is of more than academic interest, for on their farms they developed for us the potato, the world's most important food vegetable, and probably originated corn, tomatoes, and a number of other plants whose importance to us today could hardly be exaggerated.

The outstanding feature of ancient Peruvian agriculture is that it was carried on largely on narrow terraces laboriously constructed on steep slopes. This may be said to be the most specialized type of agriculture known, especially when the soil of the terraces is built up artificially. Such terraces are found in many other countries, though it is doubtful whether any equal those of Peru. There the artificial construction of the soil surface was not limited to the terraced slopes, but was also undertaken in large areas of reclaimed land in the bottoms of the valleys. The courses of the rivers were narrowed and straightened by strong walls, and then the land behind the walls was filled in, and finally a surface layer of fine agricultural soil was put on.

The narrow floors and steep walls of rocky valleys that would appear utterly worthless and hopeless to our engineers were transformed, literally made over, into fertile lands, and were the homes of teeming populations in the prehistoric days. That the work was well done there can be no possibility of doubt, for many thousands of acres of these artificial lands are still fertile and are the chief support of the modern population of the valleys. The native people take the amazing works of the ancients as a matter of course, as we accept the natural features that surround us, and are no more inclined than we are to such impossible undertakings as the ancient people accomplished.

Stone-Walled Terraces.

The most strikingly artificial feature of the ancient Peruvian agriculture was the covering of steep slopes with narrow terraces, supported by stone walls and watered by aqueducts built for many miles along the precipitous slopes of the mountains. Some of the terraces, those that characterize the Megalithic age of Peru, were built of enormous stones, often of very irregular form, fitted together with wonderful nicety.

The labor expended in the construction of these terraces shows that they served some purpose that the builders considered very important. We learn from the early Spanish historians that the Incas had special gardens for raising the potatoes of the royal household, and that there was a general belief among the people that the growth of crops and the fecundity of the flocks were acutely dependent upon the welfare of the royal family. Hence there was an underlying practical reason for the deep solicitude of the people, so often remarked by the early historians, "That it might be well with the Incas."

The work that the prehistoric builders accomplished is still beyond our comprehension. Nobody has explained how it was done or how it could be done. Indeed, the modern Indians deny that it ever was done, preferring to believe that it was the work of enchantment. Huge rocks that could have been moved only with the greatest difficulty and by the combined labor of hundreds of people are nevertheless fitted together with incredible nicety. To say that there are seams too fine to insert knife-edges or tissue paper leaves the story only partly told. There is no room for inserting anything, since the surfaces are actually in contact.

With some of the finest work, at Ollantaytambo, the joints are in many places too fine to be seen by the naked eye. A lens becomes necessary to make sure that there is really a seam and not merely a superficial groove, or false joint. The fitting of the stones has been compared to the grinding of glass stoppers into bottles, which is the best analogy thus far suggested. But how can anybody credit the idea of grinding together with such accuracy the edges of stones that weigh tons? Obviously the edges must have been ground before the stones were

The "B" class team of our school has won the "B" division section of the P. A. L., and played Redwood for the league championship on Tuesday, April 28. The team, under the able coaching of Mr. Poytress, had won all of its games by close scores, but they were all deserved victories.

Their last game with Campbell was a surprise to the school as well as to the team, as the Campbell team had defeated all of its opponents by much more decisive scores, but our team won by the score of 2 to 1, so here again the "dope" meant nothing. The team is composed of Joe Bogle, catcher; Andrew Schmidt, pitcher; Rosseau Enderlin, first base; Vincent Felsenbach, second base; Virgil Ringue, third base; Levio Raffelli, short stop; Marcel Thomas, right field; Joe Bottini, center field; John Curti, left field, and Weili Belloni, who is now playing short stop, as Raffelli has left school, and who also is a sub pitcher.

INTERCLASS TRACK

The boys interclass track meet was held on Wednesday, April 22, on the High School Track. The Seniors were easy victors, having 79 points, and their nearest rivals the Sophomores having 39 points. The result of the meet was quite a surprise, as the Sophomores were given a good chance of winning. Harold Davis was high point man with 16½ points. George Lundberg was second with 14½ points, and Johnny Lopez was third with 13 points. The Seniors had an advantage as only three events were allowed to the man, and they had enough men to be able to put at least two men in each event. Davis entered three events beside the relay, and took first place in each event. The senior relay team composed of Kingsland, Lundberg, Davis and Beltrami, was the winner of the event. The Sophomores were going strong, but Lopez had some bad luck when he stumbled at the start.

High Junior Class Meeting

The High Juniors held a class meeting on Friday, April 24. The purpose of this meeting was to find out about the class caps which are expected to arrive very soon.

Among other things that came up for discussion was a class party to be given at the home of Lois Aylworth, but no date has yet been set.

handling of the water on the terraces undoubtedly was greatly facilitated by the fact that the soils in all the terraced districts are extremely tenacious and not readily eroded. A few sods or a small ridge of earth will hold in check a stream of water, even with a swift current.

Some of the most laborious terracing is not on the steep slopes, where the terraces are high-walled and narrow, but in the bottoms of the valleys, where the terraces are often very broad. The building of broad terraces required more labor because it involved the filling and leveling of much larger areas behind the walls. Much of the work could have been avoided by making larger numbers of lower and narrower terraces, but the walls would have been more numerous and would have occupied more of the surface.

Vast Irrigation System.

With labor very abundant and land very scarce, the ancient engineers followed the plan of making the terraces as broad as possible, sometimes even to the extent of bringing material and filling in behind walls 15 or 20 feet high. Thus it would be very conservative to estimate that the building of the broad, valley-bottom terraces involved the handling and replacing of the earth for an average depth of at least 6 feet over the entire surface. This allows 3 feet for the surface layer of fine soil and at least an equal depth for the subsoil layer.

The ancient aqueducts of Peru have challenged the most attention from former travelers, and they do not become less worthy of admiration because they are now seen to be only one feature of a highly specialized agricultural system. The construction of the irrigation channels was an enormous undertaking, perhaps not equaled in any other part of the world. From the aqueducts alone it is evident that agriculture must have attained a high development, which may explain why the other branches of the art have received less consideration.

How numerous and extensive the ancient aqueducts really were may never be known, but the subject is worthy of much more extensive study than it has received thus far. If the accounts of early Spanish writers are to be accepted, some of these aqueducts were very long.

the study of biology is of vital importance. She says: "I feel that the study of living things, or biology, is one of the most interesting and important subjects for high school students. I should like to see better equipment and more emphasis placed on the subject. It opens up a whole new field to the student and gives him knowledge fundamental for health and good citizenship, and a better appreciation of life itself."

GOVERNOR'S VETO IS GOING STRONG

MANY BILLS WILL FAIL OF EXECUTIVE APPROVAL

SONOMA FARM MEASURE AMONG FIRST DISPROVED

Thirty Bills, Carrying Appropriations Approximating $800,000, Blue Penciled in One Day's Work—Hundreds of Others to Meet Same Action.

Sacramento.—It appears that Governor Richardson may eclipse his veto record of two years ago, when he vetoed about 50 per cent of the 932 measures approved by the senate and assembly. He has given notice that he will wield his ruthless pen on the hundreds of bills which the legislature sent down to him for his consideration, and has indicated what his feelings are by sending in thirty veto messages for the records of the legislative journals on the last day of the proceedings. Of this something over $800,000 were appropriations, among them the measure to re-establish the Sonoma farm for delinquent women.

The gas tax bill and the San Francisco harbor transfer measure, from a political standpoint, are two of the most difficult hurdles in the way of legislation the governor now has before him, with the gas tax affording the embarrassing problem. The strongest opposition to the gas tax bill comes from the south, where the governor is soon to go to sound out the sentiment. The Southern California Automobile club is keeping up its resistance to that measure.

PROFESSOR'S ATTACK ON JEWS RESENTED AT LAW SESSION

Washington.—The meeting of the American Society of International Law was thrown into a turmoil. When Professor Brown of Princeton university, delivered a speech containing harsh criticism of Jews, many of his hearers, resentful of his remarks, and former Secretary of State Hughes, who was presiding at the time, left the convention hall. Brown's criticism of Jews was directed at what he called their "internationalism." They do not, he said, give whole hearted allegiance to any one land.

Arthur K. Kuhn took exception to Brown's remarks and Professor A. B. Hort of Harvard defended the argument of his Princeton colleague.

"This society," Kuhn said with heat, "should not branch off into personal or racial discussion. The foreign policy of the United States has no place in this meeting. We should not embarrass our government by bringing up the patriotism of nationals who are now Americans."

Washington Takes Calm View

Washington.—Consensus of opinion in official and diplomatic circles is that the election of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg as president of Germany will not have a serious effect either on the political or economical situation in Germany or the steady progress of normal relations with other countries. While neither government officials nor members of the diplomatic corps were willing to be quoted they inclined to the belief that there was "no cause for alarm," as one of them expressed it, and believe that "whatever flurry" in the market or in the general political situation will be but temporary in character.

Fifteen Million Vote For Former Field Marshal in Presidential Contest—Women's Vote and Stay-at-Home Give Nationalists Victory.

Berlin.—Field Marshal Paul Von Hindenburg has been elected president of the German republic.

The candidate of the nationalists and the hope of the monarchists won by a million votes over former Chancellor Marx, leader of the republicans.

With Hindenburg's election assured, Germany broke into an almost unprecedented demonstration of national spirit. Crowds giving mass renditions of "Deutschland über Alles."

With Hindenburg will go to the Wilhelmstrasse a monarchist's brain schooled in the thought of a discarded regime. His most recently published communication to the kaiser pledged eternal fealty and devotion.

In France and Poland, where suspicion of Germany has been revived within the year, Hindenburg connotes the warlike spirit of the fatherland of 1860-1918. Through the small nations of the Balkans there will be distrust.

It is probable that the security pact into which Germany and other nations would have entered on a relatively equal footing, has been blocked for some time. As for the Ruhr itself, the Dawes plan provides that it shall be free of allies' troops by next August. Whether a loophole exists in this agreement and whether France would care to crawl through such a vent if it did exist is a matter of surmise.

The defeat of Marx is attributed to the defection of the workers, especially in the sections where Hindenburg was given a big majority and the district of Lower Silesia, South Hanover, Upper Bavaria, Magdeburg, Pomerania, Mecklenburg, Hamburg, Middle Germany, Schleswig-Holstein, and the rural districts of Brandenburg.

Von Hindenburg carried the city of Munich, Hanover City, Hindenburg's home town, gave Marx 130,000 and Hindenburg 110,000. Nationalists headquarters were jubilant. Motor trucks loaded with shock troops paraded the streets in the early hours, with imperial banners, Prussian flags and the emblem of the house of Hohenzollern.

Marx carried Berlin by a handsome majority. Leipzig, on the other hand went to Hindenburg by more than 50,000, reversing the figures of March elections.

Marx's defeat can be attributed to the fact that almost all the stay-at-homes in the March elections cast their ballots for Hindenburg, while many workers who had been expected to vote for Marx cast their ballots for the war lord.

Marx failed to inspire his backers at any time during the election. His speeches and propaganda were carried on for him throughout the campaign period, getting little display when contrasted with that of the war lord.

In a closely contested baseball game last Sunday between Visitation Valley Merchants and the South San Francisco Merchants, the Valley merchants

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR TROUT FISHING

Although prospects for the opening of the trout season on May 1 are somewhat clouded by high and muddy water in some of the larger streams in the Sierras and North Coast districts, the smaller streams in the Sierras and almost all of those in the coast counties are expected to furnish the anglers with some ideal sport, the touring bureau of the California State Automobile Association announced this week.

According to reports gathered by George S. Grant, manager of the association's touring bureau, from 25 district offices in Northern and Central California, the disciples of Walton who know the "ins and outs" of using live bait should have a fairly successful day. In most places the water is not yet clear enough for fly fishing and in some instances it is reported that conditions on the higher portions of the streams will not be ideal until July 1.

From Marin, Sonoma, Mendocino, San Mateo, Santa Cruz and Monterey counties come reports that the streams are well stocked with brook trout and that although certain streams are somewhat high, the sportsmen who can make good use of live bait should have a good measure of success on the opening day.

The Eel river in Lake County is not expected to furnish good fishing for a few weeks yet on account of high water, but Bear creek and Rice creek near Huyllville will both be fair on the opening day. Bass fishing is good in Clear lake and in Putah creek.

Yreka reports good conditions in the Klamath and Shasta rivers as well as in Beaver creek, 20 miles down the Klamath river highway. All of these streams are said to be full of trout.

Reports from Redding indicate that Cottonwood creek, Squaw creek, Hat creek, Lost creek, and the Sacramento, Pitt and McCloud rivers are all very high and the water is muddy. Many of the smaller streams where conditions will be better will be difficult to reach on account of road conditions.

Reports from the San Joaquin valley state that most of the opening-day fishing in the vicinity of Fresno will be done in the lower part of the Kings river or in Bass lake.

The trout season opens Friday, May 1, in Districts 1, 1½, 2, 3, 4 and 4½. In District 2½ the season will not open until July 1, and not until May 30 in Districts 23, 24 and 25. The golden trout season opens in all districts on June 30.
